

BHS students fear marching in parades

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

It was a sad commentary on human behavior Tuesday, as parents of Bay High School band members read students' accounts of being cursed, spat upon and hit by tossed beer cups and cans as they marched in the annual Nereid's carnival parade last year.

As a parent read the numerous descriptive paragraphs submitted by the students, one young band member ended his statement, "Please consider all of these facts before you make us march again this year."

A plan of action was presented by members of the Bay High School Band Booster Club.

A flat-bed truck would transport the students through the crowds and two law enforcement officers would ride on horseback on each side of the truck.

Board members approved the use of the truck, voting to pay for expense of the officers, tractor and driver, liability insurance and materials for the con-

Wastewater disposal bill rejected by committee

Reps. Compretta, Frierson pledge to continue efforts

Representatives J. P. Compretta and Harry Frierson say they will continue efforts to find a workable solution to sewage system problems affecting many Hancock County residents.

A bill was jointly introduced by the two lawmakers during the current legislative session in an effort to provide temporary relief from a 1992 Senate bill regarding wastewater disposal systems. But the proposed legislation was rejected by the Public Health and Welfare Committee.

"I am extremely disappointed we were unable to get this badly needed legislation out of the committee. However, Representative Frierson and I intend to pursue the matter through other avenues to help homeowners and property owners in the affected area," said Compretta, who represents House District 122 in Hancock County.

He added it is incumbent upon the board of supervisors to pursue efforts to obtain financing to install a central sewage system in this part of the county.

"This is a very serious situation in Hancock County. We plan to explore every possibility to deal with the matter," Frierson said. Frierson represents District 93 including portions of Hancock, Harrison, Pearl River and Stone counties.

The state law has had the effect of prohibiting homeowners from discharging sewage wastewater off their property. But the soil is saturated in parts of southern Hancock County, which leaves many property owners without a legal way to flush their toilets.

The bill prepared by Compretta and Frierson would have allowed the discharge of wastewater off the owner's property if the discharge meets certain conditions.

The measure, which applied only to Hancock County, would have been in effect until the county had installed a central

Our Lady Academy juniors Anna Hall and Heather Wittmann, who were seriously injured in an accident on the morning of November 12, 1992, are back at school. The car Wittmann was driving struck the Highway 90 railroad overpass bridge in Pass Christian during hazardous driving conditions and both girls were hospitalized for three weeks. Hall said she was given a 2 percent chance of living, and sustained several broken bones, some of which are still healing. She was able to walk one month after release from the hospital. Wittmann broke a couple of bones and is still in therapy for an internal head injury. (Echo staff photo by Liz Haas)

School board discusses absentees

BY LIZ HAAS

Sherry Smith, attendance officer for the Hancock County School District, discussed the attendance report and a profile composed of at-risk students for repeated absences at last week's school board meeting.

"Our attendance at most of the schools has increased a good bit," she said.

She outlined profiles of those students who have missed a lot of days of school. Characteristics of students who are at risk of having repeated absences include such things as pregnancy, repeated academic failures, uneducated families and abuse victims.

"About 30 to 40 percent of students at all our schools are at risk," said Smith.

CASINO REVENUE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors approved the school board's resolution requesting a share of casino revenues for any casinos coming into the Bayou Caddy and Diamondhead areas.

The amount has not been determined yet, but the Hancock District requested the same consideration Harrison County School District has received from casinos in their area, which is a share amounting to 10 percent of 3.2 percent of casino revenues.

A motion was approved to write to the State Department of Education requesting the approval to start a pilot program for the 1993-1994 school year.

BUCCANEER LEASE

Joseph Gex, board attorney, said the assistant state Attorney General will answer the board's letter concerning the Buccaneer State Park lease.

The school district entered into a 99-year lease with the State of Mississippi on Buccaneer State Park property and it must be determined it received adequate compensation, since that type of lease no longer exists.

The five-year plan was

Supervisors hear county waste management plan

BY LIZ HAAS

Representatives from Compton Engineering presented the Hancock County Board of Supervisors with a county plan for solid waste management Thursday.

Compton Engineering is planning to meet with officials from the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland to determine if they want to centralize their efforts in the solid waste management program.

"We can help you streamline this thing and make the most of the benefits of it," said L. David Compton.

The plan includes modifying the standard permit for the county landfill to meet the new state requirements.

The solid waste management plan must be submitted to the Environmental Protection Agency by April 1.

The county's plan was designed to develop guidelines for identifying existing conditions, guaranteeing disposal for 20 years, negotiating and performing waste minimization and modifying operations to future requirements.

"We can prepare the bid specifications after we talk to the cities and see if they want to join us," said Compton.

"The cities will share the cost by the number of households serviced in their area," he said.

Child care center plan OK'd by supervisors

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Design plans for a new Child Development Center were approved Monday by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, marking the first step towards the reality of a larger facility.

Several months ago, Hancock County Human Resources Agency center director Lora Mederos requested assistance in relocating, citing the need for expansion.

She reported turning away parents seeking child care assistance, on an average of two per week due to lack of space. According to Mederos, the center has outgrown its location at Third and Washington streets. It presently serves 54 children, five days per week.

Mederos and the board reached an agreement in which the county would supply the location and borrow the funds needed for either the construction of a new building or the renovation of an existing one. In turn, the center would pay the bank note and upon completion of the debt the county would own the building.

A contract with Bay St. Louis architect Mike Reeves was approved, charging him with designing a new building on county property adjoining the Longfellow Drive Human Services Complex.

Mederos reported the new building will be designed for approximately 65 children. At present, she has 29 children on a waiting list.

Child care is available to parents who are employed at least part time, or to full time students. The fee is based on income.

"For example," she stated, "a single mother making $5.50 per hour, would pay $31.50 per month for the care of one child." Mederos said, though the service is open to any income range, it is specifically designed to address the needs of women attempting to re-enter the job market and eliminate past dependencies.

struction of a rail guard. Use of the truck will be donated by booster members, as well as labor costs for the railing construction.

HURRICANE DAYS

Bay-Waveland superintendent Paul Tisdale received state permission to substitute additional minutes per day for 11 hours of instructional time lost by the dismissal of classes during the passage of Hurricane Andrew this August.

Tisdale explained, because elementary schools exceed state time requirements by 30 minutes per day, the additional time on the elementary level will not be required.

He continued, since high school students are required by the state to receive 30 minutes more instructional time than elementary students, additional minutes must be added to their day.

Tisdale said 10 minutes of instructional time will be added to second and sixth period classes for the remainder of the school year, ending the day five minutes later than usual.

The alternative to this plan is the addition of two full days at the end of the year.

TRANSPORTATION

Bay High School assistant principal Billy Rhodes was approved for the position of transportation director beginning July 1, 1993.

Rhodes has been an employee of the district for the past 24 years.

He will replace retiring director W.J. Cameron.

POLICES

Proposals for policy changes in catastrophic accidents and illness, and use of facilities were taken under review by board members.

The catastrophic accidents and illness policy change names the number of additional days an employee may receive additional sick leave.

The number of approved days is based on the number of years of employment.

The facility rental and/or use policy specifies rental costs, liability and governing regulations for non-school related activities.

ADMINISTRATORS

Administrators approved for employment by the board for the 1993-94 school year are:

—James Baldree, principal, Waveland Elementary; Gale McRaney, principal, Bay Middle School; Kim Stasny, principal, North Bay Elementary;

—Deborah Cox, Chapter I director; Garland Cuevas, district business administrator; Judy Fletcher, district food service supervisor;

—Betty Ann Jones, district administrative assistant; Sherry Ponder, special education supervisor; and contingent upon administrative certification, Cleve Williams, athletic director.

The two lawmakers said they felt it was a reasonable proposal under the circumstances, but Compretta said officials with the State Department of Environmental Quality maintain the bill was in conflict with a federal statute. "QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

We have been fortunate this winter not to have had any real freezing weather.

If forecasts are correct, this may change within the next few days.

We do need a few freezes each year to help control the many bugs, especially gnats.

It will not be long and it will be gnat time, and those little critters can really live up to the all-mouth they have.

I am not thinking about what we are going to plant in our vegetable garden this spring.

I am hoping to get some red potatoes in the ground (leaves) within the next couple weeks, weather permitting.

We save our leaves and plant the potatoes in them and have been successful most years in getting a good crop.

There is nothing better to eat than fresh red potatoes along with garden fresh snap beans with a little ham seasoning.

My mouth is watering just writing about it.

Boating is a very popular activity in our area due to our rivers, bayous, lakes and of course, the Gulf of Mexico.

Boating activities slow down a bit in the winter, yet there is still heavy traffic on the waters even during the cooler days.

This is all leading up to a special Boating and Seamanship Course being offered by the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 33.

The course is open to the public, men, women and children 12 years and older.

It teaches subjects such as safety and legal requirements, navigation, rules, piloting, aids to navigation and engine maintenance.

All of these things are a must for the operators of boats and even if you have attended a Boating and Seamanship Course years ago, some of the rules and regulations have changed in recent years.

The special course is to begin on Tuesday, March 2, 7 p.m. at the Diamondhead Community Center. Classes will be held on Tuesday nights for several weeks.

Coast Guard Auxiliary members are all volunteers and give these special classes as a community service. For further information, call Bob Tomason at 466-4380.

We live in an area of many trees, and we can lose many trees, sometimes most of them in just a few hours because of a hurricane.

From time to time we lose trees to disease, drought and old age.

In order to compensate for the loss of trees, the state of Mississippi each year promotes a Tree Planting Week.

The week designated for 1993 is Feb. 12-18. As some of you may know, the second Friday of February is Mississippi's Arbor Day.

The Hancock County Soil & Water Conservation District and the Forestry Commission will conduct tree plantings that week at local schools.

There will also be a tree giveaway on Feb. 11 and 12 on the steps of the Hancock County Courthouse at 25¢ each. The reason for the small charge is because of the budget cuts these agencies have seen.

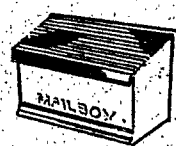

Species available will be green ash, willow oak, sycamore, bald cypress, white oak, water oak, cherry bark oak, sawtooth oak and nuttall oak.

If you have bare spaces in your yard, you may want to add a tree or two.

State certified firemen

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Education must be priority with parents to insure success

Dear Editor,

Your recent editorial regarding education and how everyone must get involved was right on target.

Too often we hear parents complain on the quality (or lack thereof) time they spend with children and/or the poor quality of education schools now provide.

Having just returned from the Disney Theme Park complex near Orlando, I can attest to the fact many parents were gaining quality time with their kids at the expense of education.

Thousands of families were at Disney and other theme parks — the kids should have been in school.

These were not local Floridians who allowed their children to miss a day or two of school.

We saw license plates from all over this country and Canada and everyone had kids in the cars — so the kids were out of school at least a week.

As one plea for money says, "The mind is a terrible thing to waste" and never more true than for those kids.

They may have learned a few things about amusements or travel, but they can never recoup what happened in their classes while absent.

Let's hope this America 2000 wakes up everyone, helps parents inspire kids to want an education and that the educators do an even better job.

Christians must stand up against atheists

Dear Editor,

Fifteen years ago an atheist named Madelyn Murray O'Hare, and her cohorts, were unbelievably successful in getting the U.S. Supreme Court to rule against prayer or Bible reading in our public schools.

Now this atheist is trying to stop the reading of the Bible on all air ways of America. She has been granted a hearing before the Federal Communications Commission. If she is successful this time, there will be no more worship services of any religion on radio or television. Furthermore, Mrs. O'Hare is also campaigning to remove all Christian programs, songs and carols from our public schools.

I am calling upon all Christians to write your Congressmen and Senators to stop this atheist in her tracks. Ask them to do everything they can to keep the Federal Communications Commission out of our protest against Mrs. O'Hare's atheistic endeavors against our heritage.

Our forefathers were God-fearing Christians who founded America while asking for, and relying on God's guidance. Faith in God has sustained peoples since the world began and America has prospered because we are a Christian nation.

Please let us not allow those who are afraid to believe in God—a very definite minority group—take any more of our rights and privileges away.

Let's send our message to Congress and let's also send our prayers to God not to let this atheist be successful again.

A weekly update

The Senate met the Feb. 2 deadline for committee action on general bills and constitutional amendments and began giving full consideration to almost 300 bills placed on the calendar. These bills are being discussed and voted on as the Senate works toward the Feb. 11 deadline for floor action on the bills originating from the Senate.

Action was taken on numerous bills including Senate Bill 2260, which would authorize local boards to use school facilities to provide child care services for both pre-kindergarten aged children and school-aged children who might need before or after school care.

Since 1990 Mississippians have been driving under a seat belt law, but have not been required to pay fines for not wearing seat belts. Senate Bill 2505, passed by the Senate, provides for a $25 fine for violation of the seat belt law. The act would take effect from and after July 1, 1993.

Currently, sports fishermen are required to obtain a license to fish in the fresh waters of Mississippi but are not required a license in saltwater. Senate Bill 2507 would require fishermen to buy a $4 saltwater license and make Mississippi fishermen comparable to those licensed in Louisiana and Alabama. This will also assist the state determining statistics by providing numbers to study red fish and trout management and policies. However, any resident who purchases a lifetime sportsman's license need not purchase an additional saltwater license.

The Senate took a position on proposed pay raises for teachers by passing Senate Bill 2844 which increases the number of years to receive increments and increases the amount the state contributes toward the purchase of individual health insurance.

By the 1994 school year, teachers would have fully-funded health insurance at a state cost of $50 million. This legislative response is based on the excessively high rates teachers pay from their personal checks to have insurance coverage.

Although the issue of state employee pay raises has not been acted upon by the Senate, it remains a priority and should receive legislative consideration before the 90-day session ends.

Floor action will remain top priority on the Senate agenda in the coming week as the remaining 200 bills are worked off the calendar.

Senator Johnson may be reached by writing P. O. Box 1018, Jackson, MS 39215 or by calling 359-3770.

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Congress takes major step toward true reform

In a major victory for Congressional reform, the House of Representatives overwhelmingly approved the elimination of the select committee on Narcotics Abuse and Control. Currently, there is a total of five select panels which were designed to reform the way Congress is run. Unfortunately, most of these panels do little more than add to the spiraling cost of operating Congress.

Furthermore a select committee's jurisdiction usually overlaps standing committees and interferes with the effectiveness of those major committees and their subcommittees. However, there are two panels which I feel should be retained by the House. Those panels include the committee on Aging and Committee on Intelligence.

As the majority of our nation's population grows older, I feel Congress should do everything it can to stay in tune with this rapidly growing segment of the population. The Committee on Aging assists Congress in a wide range of areas by conducting hearings and research on the needs of our country's older Americans.

One panel that does not require a vote in the House is the select committee on Intelligence. As one can understand, the committee has special permanent status. The main goal of this panel is to assure that Congress and the American people are kept abreast of volatile situations throughout the world and set the budget for our nation's intelligence community.

For decades the House of Representatives has witnessed countless panels designed to streamline many of the day to day operations of House committees. Special circumstances sometimes justify the creation select committees, but I feel Congress can operate more efficiently without the additional weight of many of these panels.

In these days of tight budgets and congressional reform, Congress must begin to cut unneeded expenses. Overlapping committees impose additional burdens on members and their staffs, interfere with the operations of Congress and are too costly to defend from the legislative budget ax.

I am pleased the majority of my colleagues in the House are in agreement that true congressional reform is long overdue. I am hopeful these first few steps toward reform are only an example of what we can expect during the 103rd Congress.

Few gifts actually improve with age. Your bank sells one of them.

In 1983 she received a Distinguished Volunteer Service Award from Gov. William Winter for her efforts on behalf of educational reform and the establishment of public kindergartens in Mississippi.

She was the first Hancock County resident in 1984 to receive a Bishop's Service Cross Award from Bishop Joseph Howze of the Biloxi Catholic Diocese, commended for "faithfully following the Lord's injunction to serve others."

Following a presentation by Lang on behalf of the Federal Contribution Campaign in 1988, she was named "Citizen of the Year" by Iota Epsilon Chapter of Omega Psi Phi, national service fraternity; and in 1983 was awarded the NAACP Mother-of-the-Year Award.

Lang's dedication to the causes of the needy and the community have resulted in years of volunteerism.

Johnson stated, the Krewe of Real People is honored to dedicate this year's event to someone of Lang's character and commitment.

Showers, a native of Alabama, first made his presence known to the community in 1992 as Hancock County broadcast reporter with ABC affiliate

"I am honored to have been selected by the Krewe of Real People," Showers commented. "This is such an exciting time for the community with the new Krewe of Camelot joining in the Mardi Gras festivities."

"I am really looking forward to riding. It certainly will be fun to see Mardi Gras from a point of view, not behind a camera."

Showers went to work for WLOX in 1983 after graduating from Tuskegee University in Alabama.

Al Showers

He began as a news producer and today is the Hancock County Bureau director.

Showers served as grand marshal of the Blessing of the Fleet celebration during the 1992 Our Lady of the Gulf Crab Festival.

Hoda stated, Josue Ramirez, 26, of Biloxi was arrested Tuesday while trying to pawn an item reported stolen between midnight and 7 a.m. Monday, from a van parked at a residence on Lark Street in Shoreline Park.

The second arrest took place 8:03 p.m. Tuesday in Diamondhead following a short car chase.

"Robert Malley, 24, of Malley Road in Pass Christian was arrested along Kapalama Drive after being seen by Diamondhead security officers, in the act of removing a door off a parked pick up truck."

"The security officers called the sheriff's department and he was arrested shortly afterwards."

Hoda added both men are in the Hancock County Justice Facility and each is being held on a $2,500 bond.

B/W School System adds 10 min. to school day

Bay High School has added an additional 10 minutes of instruction time to the daily schedule for the remainder of the school year in order to make up two school days which were canceled in August due to a hurricane threat.

Beginning Monday, Feb. 8, the seventh through 12th grade students will attend their second and sixth period classes for an additional five minutes. School will be dismissed at 3:05 p.m.

Students from the Bay/Waveland middle and elementary schools who ride a school bus which picks up students at Bay High will arrive home approximately five minutes later than usual.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

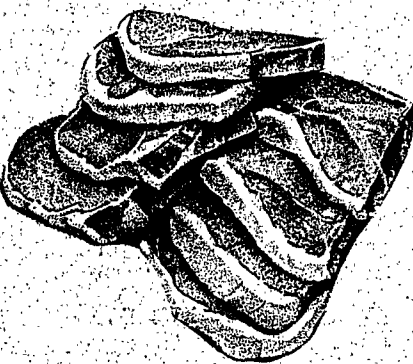

By Katy
McGuire Caire

With those mounds of bargain-priced white or "Irish" potatoes, and the heaps of pork cuts and chicken quarters offered at good prices, along with the wonderful citrus fruits and fresh vegetables of winter crowding the bins at our area supermarkets, whatever else could a cook ask in the effort to turn out super-meals?

There are also "soup makings" in abundance, along with good buys in beef briskets and cross-cut shanks and even "soup bones" with bits of meat clinging to them. And you know that your needs must have a bone or so to make a good soup, don't you? That's for "strengthening" the soup — and you!

And, speaking of citrus fruits, what's better to help fight those wintertime colds and sniffles, as these fruits are "full of that Vitamin C" as the old song goes: I can't understand why so many cooks use these fruits just as munchables, when they're such fun to cook with; all those grapefruit, oranges, tangerines and mandarin oranges, and even the kumquats! Not only for their taste, but also for the health dividends. Pork and citrus fruits just go together, like "love and marriage" and "red beans and rice" and so on, don't they? Pork is usually paired with apples (and check out the buys in apples these days) and although I am fond of apples and enjoy them often, both "as is" and incorporated in varied dishes, I like to use citrus fruits as well for a change of pace — and taste! So let's pair these good buys, pork and citrus, in our meals this week. For example, here's:

BRAISED PORK CHOPS WITH ORANGE AND MUSTARD
6 (inch-thick) pork chops

Pepper, salt as you wish
2 Tblsp. oil
1/2 cup fresh orange juice
3 Tblsp. soy sauce
1 Tblsp. Dijon Mustard
3 tsp. honey
1 tsp. freshly minced ginger
2 cloves garlic, crushed
Orange slices.

(Note: I've also cooked this dish with Creole mustard, which I like better than any other, so much so that I mix a bit with mayonnaise for a sort of "Creolaise" I suppose, spread) Also, you may prefer more ginger, if you like a quite "gingery" taste; I like only the teaspoon of ginger.

At any rate, sprinkle the chops with pepper and salt, and brown in a large skillet over medium-high heat for five minutes or so per side. Combine the orange juice, soy sauce, mustard, honey, ginger and garlic, pour evenly over chops. I like to add orange slices at this point; others prefer to use just as garnish. Cover and simmer over low heat for 30 minutes or until chops are tender and cooked through. Place chops on a platter and drizzle the sauce over. Garnish with the orange slices, simmered or not as you prefer. (4 to 6 servings).

Cinnamon bread is low in calories

CINNAMON SWIRL RAISIN BREAD

6 to 6 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 packages active dry yeast
2 cups very warm water (120° to 130°)

1/4 cup vegetable oil
2 eggs
1 cup raisins
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups ground cinnamon
Vegetable oil
Margarine or butter, softened

Glaze, if desired (below)

MIX 3 cups of the flour, 1/2 cup sugar, the salt and yeast in large bowl. Add water, 1/4 cup oil and the eggs. Beat on low speed 1 minute, scraping bowl frequently. Beat on medium speed 1 minute, scraping bowl frequently. Stir in raising and enough remaining flour, 1 cup at a time, to make dough easy to handle.

TURN dough onto lightly floured surface; knead 8 to 10 minutes or until dough is smooth and elastic.

PLACE in greased bowl; turn greased side up. Cover and let rise in warm place about 1 hour or until double. (Dough is ready if indentation remains when touched.)

GREASE 2 loaf pans, 9x5x3 inches. Mix 1/2 cup sugar and the cinnamon. Punch down dough; divide in half. Flatten each half with hands or rolling pin into rectangle, 18x9 inches. Brush with oil; sprinkle with half of the cinnamon mixture. Roll up tightly, beginning at 9-inch side. Press each end with side of hand to seal; fold ends under loaf. Place loaf, seam side down, in pan; brush with oil. Let rise about 1 hour or until double.

HEAT oven to 375°. Bake 30 to 35 minutes or until loaves are deep golden brown and sound hollow when tapped. Remove from pans. Brush with margarine; cool on wire rack. (2 loaves, 32 servings)

Wood, Fredian reign over Diamondhead Boaters Assn. Ball

Special to the Echo
King Robert "Bob" Wood and Queen Lee Fredian reigned over the 18th annual Diamondhead Boaters Association Mardi Gras Ball, produced in conjunction with the Krewe of Kamehameha, on Jan. 29. The ball was held in the Grand Ball Room of the Grande Biloxi Beach Resort.

King Akua Kai XIX Robert "Bob" Wood and his wife of 18 years, Kathy, moved from Dallas, Texas to Diamondhead in 1989. He is a graduate of Southern Methodist University. Wood served four years in the United States Air Force and retired from a career in the insurance industry in 1983.

He has been an active member in the Diamondhead Boaters Association as well as numerous other community associations and served as treasurer of the Diamondhead Property Owners Association.

Queen Lee Fredian has lived in Diamondhead for 18 years. During that time she has been very active in numerous community and charitable organizations.

She achieved the distinction of being the first ever to reign as Queen over both Mardi Gras organizations in Diamondhead, the Krewe of Kamehameha and the Krewe of Diamondhead.

Lee's husband, Tom, is the public affairs officer of the Naval Oceanography Command at Stennis Space Center.

Fredian is a member of the Garden Club, Diamondhead Newcomers Club, Diamondhead SPCA, Hancock County Republican Women, Naval Oceanography Wives

Club and the New Orleans Military Officers Wives Club. She serves on the board of the Hancock County American Cancer Society. She was elected last year to the board of directors of the Diamondhead Boaters Association and serves as its publicist.

The coronation was conducted by the association's king and queen of 1992, King Bud Barnes and Queen MLis Marshall after they promenaded through the ballroom.

Serving as Duke to King Akua Kai XIX, Bob Wood, was Jim Outlaw and serving as Lady-in-Waiting to Queen Lee was Johnny Boatright.

The king wore a black tuxedo with cuffs and lapels trimmed with silver sequins. Queen Lee was stunning in a black velvet gown, fitted to the floor and trimmed with wide bands of rhinestones at the choker neckline and cuffs.

Both the king and queen wore black velvet trains which featured silver sequins, rhinestones and mini-mirrors. With their mantles being trimmed the same way they were a sparkling and radiant couple.

Train bearers for the king were Mort Downie and Frank Gasper. Train bearers for the queen were Terri Downie and Gloria Gasper.

Don Marshall, commodore at the Diamondhead Boaters Association welcomed the 240 guests in attendance.

He introduced the directors of the Diamondhead Boaters Association: Bob Calvey, vice commodore; Ted Szelag, treasurer; Bernice Turner, secretary; Tim Holt, director; and Jack Willson, director.

He then recognized all previous royalty in attendance; King Ed Snow, Queen Ida Mae Snow, Queen Gloria Barber, Queen Pat Stafford, Queen and Lady Bernice Turner, King Bud Freeman, Queen Mary Lou Freeman, King Bob Calvey, Queen Jean Keen, King Curtis Stout, King R. B. Boatright and Lady Grace Finley who made a special presentation of engraved silver goblets to the king and queen.

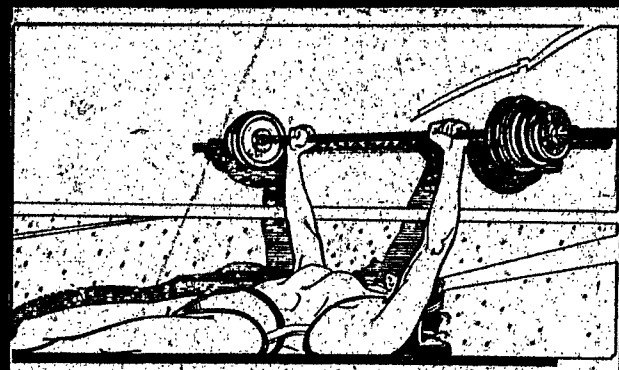

The commodore introduced the master of ceremonies, Ted Szelag, who orchestrated the coronation ceremony.

Special tribute was paid to Terri Downie who chaired the event.

Entertainment for the evening began with local favorite Leon Kellner and the melodic Katrina Vowel playing and singing dance music throughout dinner.

After dinner the king and queen and all their guests shared and participated in an exciting three-hour performance by Vince Vance and the Vallants who, until after midnight, had the dance floor packed.

The usual business packed January meeting was opened by president Mayola Rotherham with a prayer for peace, followed by the reading of a poem, "Peaceful Heart," by Dorothy Kohlberger.

Due to unplanned circumstances during the Christmas holidays, several Blue Jeans traditions had to be temporarily changed. During the group's annual Christmas party, officers for the coming year are installed. New officers for 1993 were installed by a past president, Virginia Thomas. Standing in for Rotherham, who was re-elected president, was Dot Feaheny, also a past president.

Other officers installed were vice-president, Phil Lagasse; secretary, Claire Conway; and treasurer, Lucille Witter.

The president thanked the ladies for a job well done and congratulated Betty Klein and Beulah Peterson, who tied for first place in points competition for 1992.

Each was presented a coveted silver bowl as first place winners for the year. Second and third place winners were Melba Felder and Rotherham, each receiving a beautiful poinsettia plant.

The business meeting was busy as usual for the beginning of the new year with many decisions to be made and dates set for 1993.

Following the meeting, plants and arrangements were judged, and winners in the various categories were: miniature, Gloria Norton; cultivated, Margaret Heitzmann; wild, Mattie Garcia; dried, Betty Klein; potted, Virginia Thomas; and horticulture, Pat Garcia.

Mary Danna won the Half and Half. Cash donations were collected for the Food Pantry.

The Good Shepherd

Jesus said, "I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep..." John 10:11-14

The analogy of the shepherd and His sheep to Jesus and His people is a familiar one. Jesus, as our Shepherd, gave His life for all humankind. What have you given Him in return?
